Button Ligne

A buttons ligne, refers to a buttons size - for example 22L is 14mm.

The word ligne is a French word that became the standard reference used by German button manufacturers in the early eighteenth century. Ligne is the internationally recognised standard. Consensus at the time was that a "ligne" measured the inside diameter of a "round wick folded flat". The number in brackets alongside the ligne is the quantity of buttons supplied in a tube.

Please Note:

- Trendy Trims Ltd is not responsible for goods that do not dye well due to incorrect or lack of fibre identification or damage due to poor construction. Thread is often polyester, in this case it will not absorb dye and it will stay the original colour
- Some compositions may shrink when dyed, this should be taken into consideration when allocating required amounts
- Colour fastness is not guaranteed, we recommend you always test first.
